BE A COLLEGE STUDENT WITHOUT LIVING LIKE ONE.

Going to college was the right decision. But the only thing worse than a diet of ramen noodles is the reality of debt and college loans. That’s where the GO! Opportunities Grant can help. It’s the first state-funded grant program that’s based solely on financial need, and it gives you up to $1,000 a year to help pay for school.

And as a college freshman, if you qualify for the GO! Opportunities Grant, you may also qualify for other federal student grant programs that can give you up to $10,000 a year for college.

Keep the education. Lose a little of the struggle.

Application deadline for Fall 2007 freshmen is October 1.
