

Life is not a competition

So they all say
we should try to be better
But, better than me or better than you

They say it's okay to cheat
But only so they can get ahead
But will it have been worth it
Why not just work hard instead

But what they don't realize
Is it should only be about being better than they were So don't compare you to her

So let me give you a small piece of advice
From a kid trying to make it through a world that is hard and tough
Every single morning, look in the mirror
Smile and repeat after me
" YOU ARE ENOUGH ".